Is our last, appeared an article on the Presidential Election. We resume the subject this week, and are pleased as the returns come in from the East with the gratifying intelligence of the election of Buchanan. The news well confirms now that Wisconsin, Illinois, and even Mary land, so long doubtful, have all given majorities for the Democratic candidates and we think this triumph of Democratic national principles, in the election of Buchannn, is but the just seal of disapprobation and condemnation placed by the people upon fanaticism, sectionalism, and dis loyalty to the Union. We are of those who believe in the permanency and the perpetuity of this glorious Union, the constitutional rights of the States unimpaired, the supremacy of national and constitutional law over every sectional ism, isms or schism, that has arisen or may arise in the fruitful imagination of worn out and rejected politicians who labor so assiduously and industriously for men, for place, and for power, and whose motto is rule or ruin, doing all in their might and power, whether fair or foul, for men, and nothing for a cause or a principle. In the election of James Buchanan to the Presidency, we recognize the wise and sagacious Statesman, the learned and able Diplomatist, the true scholastic and self-taught American genius who has carved out his own fortune and emblazoned his name and national fame in characters of perpetual remembrance, to live long after monumental glory and martial honor shall have crumbled to dust; and although a northern man, born, bred and educated in the North, still, whatever might be his personal proclivities as an individual, arising from his birth and education, as the President of the people of the united thirty-one States, he will rise high above every sectional and local question, and, as was remarked by one before him, he will know no East, no West, no North, no South, but will be the President of the whole people. It is a proud spectacle for an American citizen, who has a spark of strong. the revolutionary patriotism of 76, to behold, amidst this fanaticism, this wild and mad local excitement, the Southern States from the town with a strong body of ject to the call of the president. still loyal to the Constitution and the North. No less so, all have been ready to make every sacrifice, prompted by the loftiest kind of national patriotism, in the election of a northern man with national but the wisdom, the patriotism, and statesmanlike ability, national in its long step, that has marked the course hitherto of the illustrious Buchanan as the representative and exponent of Democratic principles, and the embodiment of all that constitutional union-loving American citizens so much desire, will all be fully re-

Post Office Robbery.

Dr. E. F. Fellows, a clerk in the post office in this city, was this morning arrested by Mr. J. K. Tyler, on complaint of Major Dickie, the P. M., on a charge of robbing letters passing in the mail. It has been pretty well understood for the past six months, by Major Dickie and one or two of the special agents of the Department, that many money letters posted in western offices and destined to offices in the interior and eastern parts of this State, have been opened, their contents abstracted, and the letters re-sealed and sent to their destination. These cases of pilfering were very frequent, and called for a thorough investigation by the post office authorities. After some time spent in observation, it became apparent that these letters were opened in the post office in this city. For two or three months past, constant watchfulness has been kept upon the clerks in the office; their habits, places of resort, money transactions, &c. which resulted in fixing suspicion upon the person this morning arrested. In order to ascertain the fact to a certainty, the Postmaster for many mornings during the past six weeks has been on the watch. visiting the office secretely, at 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning, in order to overlook the proceedings of Dr. Fellows, whose practice it was to go to the office at a very early hour, without any ostensible object. In these visitations the Postmaster has seen Fellows opening letter bags, and overhauling and opening packages, &c., and doing other things entirely out of the line of his duties. This morning Major Dickie was on the watch again, as early as 3 o'clock, having passed the night in the office, and after observing similar proceedings on the part of Fellows, and running imminent risk of being discovered by him, he at once confronted him, charged him with crime, sent for Tyler, and before the hour for opening the office in the morning, Fellows was arrested.

The investigation has been one of great difficulty, on account of the necessity of obtaining positions for overlooking Fellows' operations without being discovered by him; and the arrangements of the office is such, that such positions were few and much exposed. The matter has been well managed by Maj. Dickie, seconded by Mr. Hecox, his assistant, and by Thos. Fitzgerald, the porter of the office, whose ready presence of mind has in several instances saved Maj. Dickie from prema- ments made for Distant Dealers. ture discovery, and contributed essentially to the successful result of the investigation. Buffalo Com. Adv.
